annual bulletin 2015

Foundation Mission

scholarships for Washington-Lee graduates and faculty fellowships

The primary mission of the Washington-Lee Education Foundation is to provide criteria-based college scholarships to W-L graduates exclusively. Each initial scholarship is for $1,000. Students who are awarded a scholarship can reapply at the completion of each undergraduate college year, with the potential of receiving up to $4,000 over four years. The scholarships make a helpful economic impact, with rising costs of tuition and the high cost of books and supplies.

Initial scholarships and renewals are competitive. The high achievement and strong character requirements coupled with financial need are strong motivating factors for our applicants.

A secondary mission of the Foundation is to provide one or two professional development fellowships to faculty members on continuing contract. The Foundation board recognizes that assisting W-L's professional staff through extended professional learning opportunities can directly enhance the high academic standards and classroom rigor for which our school is noted.

The 2014-2015 W-L Student Council Association (SCA) and friends take selfies in front of the the selfie mural of the school's namesakes. A playful commentary on the increasing role of social media for today's high school students, the mural was painted last spring by the senior class. Not unlike the former tradition of painting the pressbox, designing and painting the wall mural has become an annual event for each graduating class.

Message from the President

Dede Cianciosi Macekura '73
Foundation President

A heartfelt thank you to all who contributed in our 2014 annual campaign. Through your generosity, we collected more than $39,000, surpassing our annual contributions from the previous year. I believe you will find that your dollars are spent wisely once you get further into the Bulletin and read the accomplishments of our scholarship recipients.

This year we welcomed two new members to our Board of Directors. Erica Drucker, from the Class of 2000, is managing our social media and fundraising outreach. Paul Bui, W-L teacher, is overseeing our website and technology needs. Their efforts have already made a positive impact on the Foundation, building upon all the work the rest of the board performs regularly.

I want to give a special thanks to the W-L faculty and staff for their contributions from the end of the school year Ice Bucket Challenge. A typically stressful time of year was brightened by the overwhelming participation among staff, resulting in over $2,000 for the Foundation.

Two Sister Organizations, Two Purposes

Although we are two separate organizations, the W-L Education Foundation and the W-L Alumni Association both support the school and its alumni, just in different ways.

The Foundation's sole mission is to provide scholarships to W-L graduates and faculty fellowships to W-L staff. You are receiving this annual bulletin from the W-L Education Foundation, which is our principal outreach to raise funds for scholarships.

If you visit the Alumni Association's webpage through the W-L homepage, it will provide you with an idea of all the activities it engages in and the class information that it maintains.

We are able to continue the Foundation's mission each year in large part due to the sustaining annual contributions from so many of our alumni, faculty, and friends. Your steadfast loyalty is deeply appreciated. We hope to continue to add more donors as we look to the future. This year we had more than 150 folks donate who did not donate the previous year; that's real progress! Your contribution of any amount is welcomed. Please give what you can to help fellow Generals realize their future potential by helping them pay for college.

There are two primary ways to give. You can mail a check, using the envelope in the center of this bulletin, or you can give electronically via Paypal through our website, www.wlhsfoundation.org. Additionally, if you shop online using Amazon, please shop through Amazon Smile, designate the W-L Education Foundation as your charity of choice, and at no additional cost to you, a small portion of each sale will go to the W-L Foundation. Amazon Smile honors your Amazon Prime status if you have it.

I hope you enjoy reading through this annual bulletin. Thanks for all you do to support the W-L Education Foundation.

The Foundation and the Alumni Association help one another regularly. The Alumni Association generously contributes financially to the Foundation each year, and also shares address updates with us. The Foundation provides space in this bulletin each year for the Alumni Association to reach out to all alumni, and also shares address changes we receive.

We encourage you to make a contribution to the Foundation, and also to take a look at the Alumni Association page at the end of this bulletin and join/donate to them as well, via a separate envelope.

W-L Crew: The Tradition Continues

Sarah Harrick Congable '95

The last place retired faculty and Foundation board member Mary Martin expected to hear reference to W-L was three hours south near the Mobjack Bay. But that's exactly what happened last winter when she complimented her doctor's office for its display of rowing posters and paraphernalia. Much to her surprise, the doctor's face lit up when he put two and two together--you see, the successful Mathews County High School rowing program just minutes away was founded thanks to the generosity of Charlie Butt, father of the W-L Crew Team. The trajectory of their conversation changed dramatically after he made the connection, and the doctor enthusiastically discussed the positive effects that a single sport has made on his rural community. Since Charlie donated equipment in the 1980s, the program has grown to be a national contender, consistently sending students to top-notch university rowing programs and Ivy League colleges--an academic paradigm shift he credits with the advent of the rowing team. While many Northern Virginia high school and college teams credit their start to the generosity of the W-L program, Martin's doctor's comments are a testament to the educational ripple-effect (no pun intended) of W-L Crew well beyond the banks of the Potomac River.

The legacy and tradition of the W-L Crew Team seems to be very much in focus lately. Listed in the credits of this summer's No. 1 best-selling nonfiction book, The Boys in the Boat by Daniel James Brown, is '92 alum Michael Callahan, current head men's rowing coach at the national champion University of Washington Huskies. But he is just one of dozens of W-L Crew alums who are still actively involved in coaching across the globe. Current boys head coach and faculty member Derek Parsons '87 says he is always proud to see so many of his "former athletes still invested in growing the sport of rowing." In fact, he and girls head coach George Kirschbaum '87 lead a current coaching staff that includes seven alums! As George states, "W-L Crew has a way of infecting your bloodstream so that it's difficult to let go of the sport."

2015 marks the 65th anniversary of the W-L boys team, and the 40th anniversary of the girls team (founded by board member Tom Chisnell '69). The 100+ student athletes on this year's non-cut team are already practicing for spring competition. We are certain they are headed toward greatness, both on and off the water.

W-L Faculty Participates in Ice Bucket Challenge

Sarah Harrick Congable '95

In August of 2014, the "ALS Ice Bucket Challenge" went viral. For a few weeks, it seemed you couldn't turn on the TV, radio, or computer without learning of another celebrity movie star, athlete, politician, or musician who posted a video to raise awareness and money benefitting ALS research! The ALS Association was able to capitalize on this social media phenomenon and brand it as its own, but the truth is that the #IceBucketChallenge (then also known as the #ColdWaterChallenge) had already been trending and gaining traction for months.

During May and June of 2014, the Washington-Lee faculty rallied around the hashtag campaign thanks, in large part, to resource teacher Horace Willis '91 and English department chair David Peters. Horace accepted the challenge from a friend, and before having his children dump a bucket of ice and water over his head, he "called out" his long-time colleague to pick up the torch in the name of the W-L Education Foundation. Dave, in turn, accepted the challenge from War Memorial Stadium at the end of a school day and named three more faculty members. And so it went...for weeks of great fun!

In case you are unfamiliar with the basic principles of the challenge, they are simple: videotape oneself being dunked or immersed in ice cold water to raise awareness for a certain organization, and then subsequently challenge three other people to do the same. The penalty, if a named person chooses to ignore the challenge, is that s/he is expected to donate money to the aforementioned organization. In these early iterations, the amount and designation of funds was up to each individual, and most of the social media frenzy was centered primarily around watching people willingly humiliate themselves in front of a world wide web audience rather than the amount of money raised.

Throughout the W-L Ice Bucket Challenge, 77 teachers, counselors, assistants, and administrators participated in the name of the W-L Education Foundation. Not only were the videos hilarious and popular (especially among the student body, who were often involved by spectating while their favorite faculty members were dunked!), it was a most wonderful way to raise awareness of our organization! W-L faculty was helped along the way not only by current Generals, but also by alums, retirees, spouses, and children, too! It was a wonderful way to capitalize on end-of-the-year cheer and grow school spirit and enthusiasm via a uniquely 21st century medium.

Over the course of one month, the W-L Ice Bucket Challenge videos accumulated thousands of Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube "likes" and "retweets." Additionally, their generous donations raised over $2,000 for our Foundation, fully funding two student scholarships! We are so thankful for the willingness and enthusiasm of the W-L faculty to continue to support our students both in and outside of the classroom. The Generals spirit is truly growing and evolving each year!

Kelley & Isobe Receive Faculty Fellowships

NORA KELLEY

Along with my son Max, a senior at H-B Woodlawn, I attended the Latin Conventiculum at Dickinson College in Carlyle, Pennsylvania. Everyone was very welcoming, and apart from the opening reception, we spoke exclusively in Latin.

About 30 people attended the Conventiculum. Many were Latin teachers or college professors, but also a number of college students. After introductions in Latin, we broke into two groups, the "tirones" (novices) and the "peritiores" (more advanced). In Latin, we discussed how people greet one another in other countries and what sorts of things we do in our spare time. We worked on writing and producing simple skits. We read Vergil and wrote summaries in Latin (I have begun doing this with my AP students!). There were many more activities and discussions, reading of short stories, and looking at paintings and cartoons. A reporter was there for the first day, and she wrote a wonderful article that appeared in the August 10th edition of The Washington Post Magazine!

I came away from this institute with so many wonderful ideas and materials, which I have begun implementing in my classes at W-L. I speak more Latin in class now and my students are starting to do so as well. I met so many wonderful colleagues with whom I can now remain in contact. I think this would be a great experience for rising juniors and seniors, and am encouraging my students to consider it.

HIROMI ISOBE

Summer is the time for me to rejuvenate, to create my own artwork and to gather inspiration for the new school year. I found a perfect trip to Ireland to do all that. Thanks to the generous support of the W-L Foundation's faculty fellowship I was able to attend a once-in-a-lifetime professional development program. The workshop was held at Seacourt Print Workshop in Bangor and Bishop's Mill Paper and textile studio in Newtownards in Northern Ireland last August.

The workshop line-up consisted of one day of Experimental Textiles, one day of Hand Papermaking, two days of Leather Bookbinding, and two days of Non-toxic Printmaking. Bishop's Mill studio was located in the so-called "Artist's Peninsula," where the northern light hits the green hills, the ocean and the abundant vegetation, making what is truly an artist's paradise. The Seacourt Print Workshop is a state-of-the-art facility that is one of the best equipped facilities I have ever used. I was immersed in art-making with inspiration from Ireland and like-minded workshop participants.

I am going to share this wonderful experience with other art teachers at a countywide meeting, including a demonstration of bookmaking. I gained many good ideas/lessons to enhance my teaching. I am so appreciative of the generous assistance of the W-L Foundation that enabled a dream to come true.

Scholarship Recipients for the Class of 2014

Generous donations from supporters enabled the Foundation to award ten $1,000 scholarships to graduating W-L seniors. Their academic and co-curricular high school achievements and their college plans are summarized below.

JESSE CHUNG

Jesse was a member of nearly every W-L band, including the Concert Band, Jazz Lab, Symphonic Band, Jazz Big Band, and the Marching Band, where he served as drum major his senior year. He also was president of the Mountain Club, and involved in numerous W-L theatre productions as an actor, stage crew member, props department head, and saxophonist in the pit orchestra. Jesse attends Bowdoin College.

DE'JAH LEE

De'Jah was a member of the advanced orchestra and Music Honor Society. For College Crossroads she mentored underclassmen interested in pursuing higher education in engineering. De'Jah earned the bronze, silver, and gold awards in Girl Scouts and was the 2014 1st Place winner in Arlington's Martin Luther King Essay Contest. At Virginia Commonwealth University she hopes to obtain a degree in Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering.

ALLYSON SURIA-HERNANDEZ

Allyson was president of the W-L chapter of DECA and a member of the National Honor Society, the Environmental Action Committee, Best Buddies, Sisters on Purpose, and the Latin America Student Association. Active in community service, she volunteered with Greenbrier Learning Center, AFAC, her church, and the DREAM project. She currently attends Marymount University with plans to become a teacher – at W-L!

Ariel Bobbett, a sophomore Earth Systems major, is involved with several environmental pursuits on campus, including the Stanford Green Living Council, the Zero Waste Intern Program for Stanford Student Housing, and the GLC-run Campus Conservation Nationals. She is also active in Kayumanggi, a Filipino dance troupe. Ariel won the Boothe Prize, a quarterly writing award, for a screenplay she wrote about a future dystopian society.

Jesse Ferrell has managed an impressive array of activities while also maintaining Dean's List status as a junior at Columbia University. She works 20 hours a week helping a high school friend financially while also supporting her own needs. She helped to establish a successful arts collective on campus, and is a board member of Columbia's Prison Reform and Education Project, tutoring students at a juvenile detention center.

Margaret Burgos is a sophomore at Colby College and plans to double major in Government and Women's Gender Sexuality Studies. She has delved into several research projects, including the use of meditation and yoga as therapy treatments for depression and anxiety, and the voyage of the S.S. St. Louis in relation to the Nazi occupation of Germany. Outside of class, Maggie is active in the Colby Women's Rugby Football Club.

Adrianna Gorsky is a junior Environmental Science and Environmental Thought and Practice major at the University of Virginia. She was inducted into the Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society, works with the Office for Sustainability, and led career workshops at University Career Services. This past summer she was an intern with the US Fish and Wildlife Service in Maine.

SHALMA AKTHER

Shalma was president of the LASA Club, vice president and founder of the Red Cross Club, chair of the Logistics Committee for the Connect Program, and an active participant in the Emerging Leaders Program. She volunteered at Greenbrier Learning Center and Central Library, was a member of the Teen Network Board, and worked part-time. Shalma attends Virginia Commonwealth University and plans to become a doctor.

NATHALY CONCHAMBAY

Nathaly participated in Latinas Leading Tomorrow and LASA. She volunteered at her church, as well as Greenbrier Learning Center, where she tutored elementary school students. She was on the honor roll her senior year, while also working part time. Nathaly attends Northern Virginia Community College in the Pathways Program with plans to continue to a four-year institution to become a Medical Assistant or Nurse.

AARON PATRON

Aaron played football for four years and was captain of the varsity team during his senior year. He was a member of the Humanitarian Club, the Architecture Construction Engineering Club/Program, and played the trombone and baritone in both the Concert Band and Jazz Lab. Outside of school, he coached a 6th grade basketball team. Aaron is pursuing a mechanical engineering degree at the George Washington University.

BRIAN TRAN

Brian volunteered with Arlington Public Libraries for three years; was a member of the Teen Network Board for two years; and served as a Red Cross Youth Team member for four years, where he assisted with park clean-ups and Meals on Wheels. Brian is a freshman at Virginia Commonwealth University with plans to earn both a bachelor's and master's degree and become a teacher.

Emily Cook is a junior at the University of Virginia working toward a degree in English, as well as fulfilling requirements for the Curry School of Education, where she plans to earn both a Bachelor's and a Master's degree. Emily tutors students in local Charlottesville schools and has assisted disabled university students with classroom note-taking through the Student Disability Access Center.

Eilizabeth Grossman is a sophomore at Christopher Newport University working toward a Master's degree in teaching. Her high GPA has enabled her to participate in the prestigious President's Leadership Program where she is required to complete extensive community service. She volunteers at a local elementary school, a cat shelter, a food pantry, and for the Children's Miracle Network through Phi Mu.

Lindsay Cronin is a senior at Hood College. Based on her experiences coaching and teaching swimming, she is pursuing a major in Elementary and Special Education. Lindsay is active on the college's swim team as captain, and has received numerous awards as a result. She also has volunteered with Special Olympics in Frederick County and the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

Danielle Harris, a sophomore at the College of William and Mary, plans to pursue a major in African Studies and a minor in Math. She studied "How Rastafari Moved the World" and "South East Asian Folklore and Performance" to push herself beyond the usual introductory fare. This past summer, she studied in Ghana working with children. She is a Resident Assistant and has volunteered for Habitat for Humanity Restore.

KYLE CHIPMAN

Kyle was SCA President and founder of the W-L Veterans Action Club. He also participated in Symphonic Band, Marching Band, and Jazz Big Band. Among his many volunteer activities were helping to raise money for senior scholarships; leading the Thanksgiving Food Drive for two years; and orchestrating the Soldiers with Smiles initiative, putting together care packages to soldiers in Afghanistan. Kyle is a freshman at Vanderbilt.

LOUISA DOYLE

Louisa was treasurer of W-L's chapter of the National Art Honor Society, painted sets for school plays, and earned a Gold Key for her art portfolio and a mixture of Gold and Silver Keys for her individual pieces. She found time to volunteer at St. Ann's Church and to work as a kennel technician at Suburban Animal Hospital. Louisa currently is a freshman at the College of William and Mary.

ANNA SANTIAGO

Anna participated in track, cross-country, and crew. She was a member of the National Honor Society for three years, participated in the Marching/Symphonic band, and was active in student government all four years. Anna also served as an elementary school tutor for second graders helping them with reading and writing, and she worked part time. She attends Colgate University and hopes to become a teacher.

2014 Renewal Recipients

Foundation scholarship recipients are eligible to reapply for assistance throughout their college experience. The following brief summaries highlight the progress of our eighteen 2014 scholarship renewal recipients and illustrate the impact of your donation.

Charles Argon is a sophomore at Princeton University pursuing a major in East Asian Studies. After intensive study of Chinese language as a freshman, Charlie participated in an eight-week intensive language program studying 4th year Chinese in China. He is a Writing Fellow at Princeton's Writing Center, assisting other students who need assistance with writing papers. He also has a leadership role in a student-run investing club.

Blair Delery is a junior honors student at Meredith College majoring in Psychology. She serves as a Resident Assistant and is a member of the Psychology Club, and was elected Historian of the Meredith Christian Association. For one of her honors research projects, Blair explored micro expression training to help people with Autism understand and notice social cues.

Benjamin Edgar is in his senior year at the University of Virginia. A Computer Science major, he also plans a minor in Business. He earned a summer internship in cyber security at BIT Systems for the past two summers. Ben has been active in all aspects of Jewish life on campus, with leadership roles in the Jewish Religious Life Council and the Jewish Leadership Council. Last spring he traveled to help the Jewish community in Argentina.

Peter Haththotuwa is a senior at the University of Virginia's McIntire School of Commerce, specializing in Management and Marketing. Over the past few summers, Peter worked at the London Stock Exchange, Africare, Microsoft, and ComScore. His acceptance to McIntire's Global Commerce Immersion program "has been truly life changing," taking him to Denmark to study Danish environmental policies and practices.

Brianna Hogan is an Echols Scholar at the University of Virginia, pursuing a double major in Physics and French. Currently a junior, she studied over the summer in France through Harvard's Summer School, studying Arab and European interactions in the colonial and post-colonial eras. Among Brianna's numerous activities is her membership in the Jefferson Literary and Debating Society, where she is Editor-in-Chief of The Jefferson Journal.

Mumtahina Mahmud is a senior engineering major at George Mason University, specializing in Financial Engineering and Aviation Systems. Mumtahina got her dream job last summer at MITRE as an Aviation Systems Engineering intern. She has held leadership roles at GMU as a peer advisor, and vice president of both the International Council of Systems Engineering and the local chapter of the Society of Women Engineers.

Nataly Montano Vargas is a junior at Texas Tech University and plans to continue her studies in medical school after graduation. Due to her dedication and hard work, Nataly has earned a place on the President's List. She is a student leader for MentorTech, helping students interested in medicine, and is also an Honors College Ambassador.

Petra Nichols is a junior at the University of Pennsylvania, majoring in International Relations and minoring in Hispanic Studies, Economic Policy, and History. She worked at the Global Interdependence Center in Philadelphia, promoting international trade and economic dialogue. She has held leadership roles in multiple university groups on international relations, and helped to bring the Panamanian Ambassador to campus.

Kevin Salvador is a sophomore at Virginia Tech, pursuing a major in Engineering. He made the Dean's List both semesters of his freshman year, and is a member and leader in both the Galileo Engineering Living Learning Community and Circle K International, the largest service club at Virginia Tech. In his spare time, Kevin plays intramural basketball.

Karen Vallejos-Corrales entered her third year as a senior at Southwestern Adventist University, thanks to accruing enough credits from her IB experience at Washington-Lee. She is pursuing a double major in International Business and Social Science. Karen has held leadership positions at her university, and had the privilege to serve as an intern for Virginia Senator Tim Kaine and at the Center for American Progress.

The Foundation would like to thank W-L students Eren Agim '15 for the photography and Joe Langley '16 for continued assistance with various production related tasks.

Message from the W-L Alumni Association

The mission of the Washington-Lee Alumni Association (W-L AA) is to support W-L's alumni, the school, and the surrounding community through various programs and activities. Membership in the Association stands at over 300 and spans the decades from the 1930s to the present. Please consider joining or renewing your membership to contribute to the enduring legacy of your alma mater.

Here are some key initiatives:

♦ Maintaining the Alumni Database website with up-to-date information about your classmates. Maintaining the Faculty Database with information on W-L teachers and administrators through the years. Producing a bi-annual newsletter for members.

♦ Preserving items of importance both digitally and through our dedicated storage space at the school. Items include the Blue & Gray, Crossed Sabres and Penman, as well as trophies, sports memorabilia, cheerleader sweaters, programs, photos, sound recordings, movie film, prom dresses, and more. The entire collection of Blue & Grays and some Penmans can now be digitally accessed through the W-L AA website.

♦ Financial support for school activities such as the Senior Class Graduation Night Boat Party, participation in the school's Winter Bazaar each December which benefits the senior class, support for the Annual Spring Golf Tournament, advertising in school publications, and an annual contribution to the W-L High School Education Foundation scholarship fund.

♦ The W-L AA is grateful to the Washington-Lee Education Foundation for this page in their Annual Bulletin. Both the Education Foundation and the Alumni Association are committed to the success of W-L.
